

6th International Conference on Applications of Optics and Photonics

Aveiro, Portugal, July 16 to 19, 2024

1st Announcement

The Portuguese Society for Optics and Photonics is organizing the VI International Conference on Applications of Optics and Photonics, AOP2024, to be held in Aveiro, during July 16 to 19, 2024. Aveiro is located in the center-north region of Portugal, with good access infrastructures, both by road and by train, with Porto's airport one hour drive away.

In line with the major success of SPOF's previous conferences – AOP2011 in Braga, AOP2014 in Aveiro, AOP2017 in Faro, AOP2019 in Lisbon and AOP2022 in Guimarães, the 6th Meeting aims to further strengthen the international prestige of the AOP conference and it is expected to be a reference meeting in Optics and Photonics in 2024.

This conference is expected to offer not only presentations by several world-renowned researchers in all fields of Optics and Photonics, but also, in the always open and friendly atmosphere characteristic of the conferences organized by SPOF, will be an excellent opportunity to further foster the establishment of collaborations in different domains of optics.

Open to contributions on all topics of Optics and Photonics and their fields of application, we intend to review and keep up with the state of the art, allowing a substantive discussion on the future of research, application and industrialization in the field of Optics and Photonics.

Specific sessions are envisioned giving emphasis to the aspects of applications and industry due to the high economic and societal value of the technologies and applications in Optics and Photonics.

The participation of students and young researchers is encouraged and highly appreciated and several prizes will be award to the best presentations and papers.

Peer-reviewed accepted papers will be published in special editions or sections of ISI/SCI Journals in the fields of Optics and Photonics.

Following the established tradition, there will be room for a pleasant social program, with various moments of fraternization among the participants, with emphasis on the conference dinner, which will allow for the fostering of friendships and partnerships.
